Community Council Urges State Expedite Taylorsville Road Work

A resolution urging the State Highway Commission to expedite work of reconstructing of Taylorsville Road between the highway square and the Southern Railway overpass was adopted at Tuesday night's meeting of the Jeffersontown Area Community Council.

W. C. Dieruf, Jr., president of the council, said it was understood that the state was planning to reconstruct the section this year and it was the council's aim to request that the work be done as soon as possible.

Another resolution adopted by the council recommended that improvements be made to roads on Waterston Road, two blocks on either side of the square. The council desires that roadway be paved from curb to curb.

Council members also voted to urge the City Council to make any effort to decommercialize any section of Taylorsville Road a block or so from the square. The resolution pointed out that the lines had helped Jeffersontown grow and that the utility should be given consideration in its efforts to keep in business.

Another resolution, seeking to have the safety islands at the four entrances of the square, was defeated.

Dieruf said Tuesday's meeting was a very interesting one and that he hoped that future ones would be as much so. The next session will be held February 8.

Contracts Awarded For Bruce Avenue School

Contracts for construction of the new Bruce Avenue Elementary School between Palatka and Old Third Street roads have been awarded by the Jefferson County Board of Education. The cost will be $499,000.

Awards went to Schimpeler Construction Company, general construction work, $339,927; C. J. Hochler, plumbing and heating, $54,628; and McClain Electric Company, electrical work, $21,392. The building will be 40,000 square feet and accommodate 630 pupils.

Richard Van Hoose, superintendent, reported that enrollment in the county schools when they reopened after the Christmas holidays was 26,955, a gain of 338, adding to the already overcrowded situation.

Van Hoose also reported that the Southern Association of Elementary and Secondary Schools had again accredited the four county high schools - Eastern, Fern Creek, Valley and Southern.

J'OWN ROTARY

The Jeffersontown Rotary Club has a new member, Dr. E. C. Bryant, Jr., dentist, who was officially welcomed into the club at last Friday's meeting.

Speakers of the session were Judge L. R. Curtis, who presides over one of the criminal branches of Jefferson Circuit Court, and Lee Jones, Louisville attorney, who specializes in tax matters.

County Building Permits Hit An All Time Record

Continuous growth of Jefferson County outside Louisville, both from residential and industrial construction viewpoint, has been reflected in figures released by the City-County Planning & Zoning Commission. Figures for 1954 show large increases both in the number of permits issued and in the amount of money involved, described as an all time record.

During the year, permits for a total construction outlay was $75,000,000, compared with $47,522,735 in 1953. William Beatty, chief zoning enforcement officer, said last year's figures were probably closer to the $100,000,000 figure as has been reflected in figures released by the City-County Planning & Zoning Commission. Figures for 1954 show large increases both in the number of permits issued and in the amount of money involved, described as an all time record.

During the year, permits for a total construction outlay was $75,000,000, compared with $47,522,735 in 1953. William Beatty, chief zoning enforcement officer, said last year's figures were probably closer to the $100,000,000 figure as has been reflected in figures released by the City-County Planning & Zoning Commission. FOR BETTER OR FOR WORSE?

Transportation facilities to meet the needs of those who travel regularly from the outer suburbs of Louisville into the heart of the city are of much concern to the residents of this Jefferson County area. During the past few years many sections of the territory have grown from sparsely settled rural communities into thickly populated suburban reaches.

As Louisville extends her borders the city's transportation system is logically expanded to cover the metropolitan area. Also as the commuter traffic increases those in the business of transporting people to and from the city expect to enlarge their services to meet the public need. The obvious advantage for the public is that the constant sparsity of settled rural communities into thickly populated suburban reaches.

After having served the transportation needs on several of the main arteries leading into the city for so long a time, it seems unfair that they should be denied the franchise which permit them to continue to perform this public service. They operate on a small scale. Their operation was limited, as were the possibilities for profitable operation. Over the years, expansion required to meet the public needs has demanded heavy improvements.

Thus, it looks like confiscation when the agency is denied the privilege to continue their public service operations. There is the question too that, should this long established service be discontinued, would the public need for transportation be continued as fully and efficiently as before?

The matter of combining city and county governmental functions is being seriously considered at this time. County people can see some general advantages, as well as the Louisville city authorities can see such advantages. But we county residents can also see possibilities of our losing some of the advantages for public progress and improvement by casting our lot into a combined form of civil government.

Particularly when we see the attitude being displayed by Louisville authorities in trying to "protect" their local transportation system to the possible disadvantage of county residents beyond the city's municipal borders, we wonder. Are we to be taken in, if and when, for good or ill? This transportation matter has not served to inspire confidence in the move to annex or to combine governmental agencies.

Naturally if the county people are to be "taken in" to become a pawn in the hands of city politicians, they are going to shy away from such a connection. The present attitude of official Louisville isn't contributing much to ward a favorable approach to a combination of the city and county governmental functions.

WE QUOTE THE SHELBY NEWS

(An Old Question and Depressing News)
Chief of Police Roy Jones speaking over a cup of coffee:

"Why do people have to steal — why do they pull such stunts as these recent break-ins. Even if they are sick enough to get away with it for the moment, they'll slip up and get caught and get caught. They risk their whole future for a few dollars."

The chief sounds depressed. And depressing it is, indeed, when we read now of burglaries in small cities as well as heavily populated areas; of the murders, embezzlements and other crimes; of the automobile accidents that are killing so many people every day.

And others who get depressed and think over the situation eventually put the age-old question: Is the world getting better or worse?

It's a question that has no stock answer. Each individual will answer it according to his background, temperament and degree of optimism or pessimism.

It is a well known fact that a wave of violence usually follows a major war. But the high incidence of crime which followed World War II and the Korean War has not been contained. Instead, it continues to grow, reaching into small towns and to grass roots level.

Is this era of violence a product of the nervous tension under which the American people are living — of the wide spread insecurity in the nation's most prosperous period?

In our rush toward a better day and a better living, we have missed something basic needed to give our society greater stability. So much so that we have taken it for granted that violence by becoming richer materially without becoming enriched within. They say we're just living on the surface.

Undoubtedly Billy Graham is on the right track when he preaches that our nation is ready for a great spiritual revival. But it will have to be more than a wave of emotion. It must be a real revival, a revival that will bring in order to curb the violence which Chief Jones and millions of other reflective Americans find so depressing, baffling and ominous. — Shelby News.

LOOK AT KENTUCKY—FROM THE WEST

Back in Kentucky it would appear that precedent has been set in making membership in the Communist party illegal. A newspaper copy reader has been convicted of sedition, and in summing up, the commonwealth attorney told the jury that it had a simple case to decide. He said that "Sedition is communism and communism is sedition — there is no distinction." The defendant received a sentence of $5,000 and 15 years.

The Kentucky prosecutor used a direct approach and got results. Actually there is no difference between communism and sedition. Panoplying of Communists in the United States has only made it appear so. When a man associates himself with a movement dedicated to overthrowing our government by force, which the Communists are, he most certainly is guilty of sedition. More power to Kentucky, and may we see many such convictions. — Elaine (Calif.) Valley Sun.

CAPITOL

The week of January 14-21 was proclaimed Jayce Week in Kentucky by Governor Wetherby in recognition of the fact that Louisville and Kentucky will be the co-city of national Junior Chamber of Commerce activities during that period.

January 22 Louisville will close out a banquet which will close the week and which is to honor the 10 outstanding young men of the nation during 1954. Edward R. Murrow, world-noted news commentator, will be principal speaker at the banquet.

The Jaycees executive committee and national office staff will have headquarters in Louisville during the week proclaimed by the Governor.

Dr. Frank A. Rose, Lexington, president of Transylvania College is to be honored as one of the 10 outstanding young men at the banquet.

The State Property and Buildings Commission sold a $6,000,000 bond issue to finance the new State Fair and Exposition Center in Louisville at 98 percent of par value and bearing an interest rate of 3 1/2 percent to the Louisville, Louisville, and White, Weld and Company, Chicago — the lone bid offered.

Only 13 percent of claims filed under the state's unemployment insurance program during the last six years, the state's Commissioner of Economic Security Vego E. Barnes said. The State's method of comparing quarterly wage reports of employers with benefits paid to claimants has been a deterrent to fraud, he said.

Four thousand new jobs were created by 10 new plants which were established in Kentucky during the fiscal year ending last June 30, the State Agricultural and Mechanical Development Board reported.

Joseph H. Taylor, executive director of the board, said the outlook for further industrial development this year is most favorable. His agency is assisting communities and industries in getting together by making community surveys, of which some 125 have been published already.

Governor Wetherby has named this month "March of Dimes Month in Kentucky" and has asked for support of the drive and "the enlightened generosity of every citizen in the state." The cause may be continued and a great humanitarian victory has been won. The March of Dimes goal this year is $4,000,000 through out the nation.

By 1975, all Americans will be eating more meat.

We are meat eaters — to the tune of 145 pounds per year as Americans. These young men, produce and distribute such a vast supply is a really big job.

It takes about 2500 railroad refrigerator cars to transport the 65 million pounds that find way to American homes daily.

If we maintain our present level of meat consumption, America's breeders, growers and feeders will have to produce an additional 6 BILLION pounds of meat per year by 1975. BUT it is not just the meat. The consumption goal of the Department of Agriculture — 175 pounds per person — that will mean an additional 12 BILLION pounds of meat (over present amounts) to be produced in 1975.

"DAN, BOONE KISSED ME" is a novel word about the life of the early 1820's is that review, as all readers of newspapers know, there has been much about Burt Lancaster and his movie crew, who have been making the story a teen-aged boy named Zeff, the son of Papppy Duke, the richest farmer in the county. The novel deals with events in my home county in the year 1848, when everything seems drifting toward a war with Mexico to back up the admission of Texas to the Union. Even our remote little neighborhood is drawn into the war scare, for buyers of horses for the army and recruits are to be found there. Though the novel deals primarily with the happenings in the lives of Papppy Duke, his family, and his neighbors, we can feel the surge of the big world behind everything that is being done. The story of a teen-aged boy named Zeff, the son of Papppy Duke, the richest farmer in the county, is a really big job.

Robert B. Martin, 69, Dies; Rites Thursday

A Middletown painter and contractor, Robert B. Martin, 69, died Tuesday in his residence on Tucker Station Road after a lingering illness. He was a native of Breckinridge County and a former deacon in the Middletown Christian Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ida Crank Martin; a son, Robert L. Martin; a daughter, Mrs. Louis Langford; and four grandchildren. The body was at the church from noon Thursday until services at 2 p.m. Interment was in Middletown Cemetery.

Personality Plus

First of all before we get on with our Personality of the week, I wish to offer apologies for omitting the answer last week for the personality of the previous week.

The personality for two weeks ago was Mr. Edward Schindler, postmaster of Middletown. Our apologies to Mr. Schindler and the readers for omitting the answer and name last week.

Now to get on with our Personality for this week. So that the girls will not be down my throat for choosing another man, I've decided to choose a couple again. Since that way, then I'm not showing any partiality toward either sex.

Frankly, any way it was a little bit difficult to choose when I am going to start out with the male personality first though, no offense Mrs. R.

He was in defense work during the war—after which he pursued a business in Middletown.

THE ANSWER

Answer to last week—H. R. (Frosty) Frost, milkman, postmaster for Plainview Dairy Farm in Middletown.

Despite very keen competition, he has made a very tremendous success and steadily built up his business which serves this community and surrounding areas.

He is a quite frequent visitor in our home and a large part of our other Middletown homes due to his type business he has.

He has a very winning personality and I might add, if Mrs. R. does not object, is a quite handsome guy. He is most accommodating and courteous which I'm sure has been a great factor in making his business the success it now is.

He is a lover of dogs, enjoys hunting and tennis. He is an active member of the Middletown Civic Club and Rotary Club. He takes a great interest in the community and is always cooperative in community projects.

She is tall and slender and has an air of dignity and poise that is quite admirable. She has a nice friendly sincere personality touched off with sparks of humor and a pleasing disposition.

Besides being a housewife and mother, she plays a very important role in her husband's business and I suspect he attributes much of his success to the assistance she gives him.

They are proud, devoted parents to a rather large family. They have done an excellent job of raising these children and they make a very happy family group when all seen together.

Don't let this state throw you but I might add that a good slogan for his particular business would be "Flow To Win Friends and Influence People," try.

The "Old Deacon" Cites Advantages Of Winter Snows

By C. Finley Williams

"This winter is a beautiful year," said the Old Deacon, "and I love the springtime when the sleeping earth seems to awaken and we see all around us signs of new life in the plants and trees and the song birds are returning from their winter vacation in the South. And I am very fond of the summer when the flowers are in full bloom and every creature seems to find a joy in the very fact that they are living. In the fall when the leaves begin to turn we see many colors as though nature were trying out the beautiful shades at her command to see which was the best combination. Perhaps the children are not so happy about it because it means back to school again. At this time of the year when we reap the fruit of our toil during the summer and follow the custom of the forefathers giving thanks to a bountiful Father on Thanksgiving Day. But there is a certain sadness about this season as we observe the dying vegetation about us but we have the reassurance that when spring comes again they will spring up into new life.

"As I grow older I care less about the winter with its chill winds and damp cold days. There are some hardy souls who maintain that the winter season is their favorite but if you are associated with them very much you will find them complaining. But with all the beauty of the other seasons I do not mind the winter. The earth can be attired in a more wonderful dress than when covered with snow. Sparkling like diamonds when the sun strikes it at certain angles or lying still and white in the moon light there is a fascination about the snow even if it is not achieved by any other of nature's moods. I reflect in solitude that of the millions of snow flakes, no two have ever been found exactly alike when examined under a microscope. And these tiny flakes one upon another, so fragile when alone, in a step the most powerful locomotive when enough are gathered together.

"Snow has often been used as an emblem of purity and in the Bible is used thus in contrast to impurity, such as in Psalm 51:7 where the Psalmist says, 'Wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.' Or as the Prophet Isaiah wrote, 'Come now, saith the Lord though you sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow. 'Come now, saith the Lord though you are filthy as filthy, you shall be as clean as snow. 'The purity of the snow and Isaiah forth speaks of its benefits when he says, 'The snow shall be down and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but it watereth the earth, and matcheth it being forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater.' We've had two very dry years and one of our greatest needs to replenish the depleted water supply in the earth is snow. As it slowly melts it soaks into the ground instead of running off as a heavy rain does.

"Some of us have fond memories of boyhood days as we coasted far into the night or made snowmen or engaged in snowball battles. So when the snow comes, although it slows us up and we can't get where we want to go as soon as we wish to, let us remember some of the good qualities that it has and enjoy the beauty which it brings. Since most of us hurry through life, scarcely pausing to enjoy and appreciate the blessings which we are offered, it is well for us to be forced to slow up some times, but it would be far better if it did so voluntarily. As in many other things, where we fail to appreciate, there is a lesson in the snow if we will take time to ponder upon it."

Life lived just to satisfy yourself never satisfies anybody. Enjoy the winter and the snow. Slay the door on the doctor's nose—Henry Wardsworth Longfellow.

Eastern High School

By Jack Tarr

Owensboro Tech had a tough night last Friday night when it played Eastern at Masonic Home. The Eagles started slowly without Bunting and Ewing, but then a 22 second quarter left Tech way behind. Then Ewing came in and in one period made 12. With five minutes left, substitutes came in freely and even added to the carnage.

The game was never in doubt as E.H.S. won 67 to 37. Jerry Colston led the Big Blue with 14. Durham had 11 and Bunting 8. Byers, Pulliam, Huffaker, Crabtree, Kemp Shackleford and Heath were the big men who made little donations to the scoring.

Friday night, play Manual, the winner in nine out of ten. We have played only one common foe, Shelbyville. Eastern won easily on Shelbyville's home court and Manual lost by 4 at the Armory. But as Adolph Rupprecht, you can't compare scores.

Eastern plays Atherton Tuesday night and Valley next Friday. Both games will be at home.

Well, there you are, and here I am. If I am to be a snapper, my column should be appropriate. Hence, from now on we will refer to this ripe column as "BLACK JACK'S DIRT." Like it? Then away we go.

Sorry about Sherry and Glen Frank's breaking up. But on the glad side is the news that Gary Tabb and Sue Mandeen are going steady. Remember last week? I told you so.

A very cute, but unattractive duo is Jean Hack and Julian Heath. She is short, dark and pretty while Julian is tall, blond and good looking.

Wonder if Donna B. has had any more dates with "Beast Nasty." Ask her about it.

Pat Howard is real cute, but I wish she wouldn't look over my shoulder in Spanish.

I sent a Christmas card to Joanne addressed, "Mite Cornett." I think they sent it to the Unclaimed Mail Dept. (No appreciation.)

We're taking a brief respite from typing and Miss Lamb's smiling face is over in the other corner. Here I type about 23 words a minute and these girls next to me type 55. Miss L. asks who typed over 35 words and two girls raise their hands. Not 36 or 37, but 50 or more! One of them is Anne "Speedy" Hoffman and the other is Gayle Baurle the very pretty Telen Queen. Gosh, I have to take a shower now. Writing this does that, you know.

See you tomorrow night.

Seems kinda funny not to start out with Merry Christmas or happy about reading this corn. I say H. Happy Reading to you. That sounds kinda dumb too because what in the world is happy reading this corn.

Incidentally if you folks don't start letting the Snow know more about your "doings" there's no getting to be much of a corn to read, so how's about giving us a buzz and let us know who does what, when and where? Christmas might be a thing of the past but the memories of Christmas activities and entertainments still linger on. And because of the rush and confusion at that time some of the Christmas parties—so better late than never here goes:

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Young entertained with dinner Christmas Eve and a family get-together. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Young and children and Mrs. Agnes Bazzell. Belcher and Guy Santa Claus was present too for the grandchildren of "Santa" and the "Youngs."

Other guests entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Young during the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Slattery, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wetherby, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur T. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. S. Lamont and Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Herlick.

Even though the Christmas tree is on the trash heap and the last of the turkey hash, turkey soup, even the neck is finally sold, we're still got leftover parties and here's another:

Mr. and Mrs. George Gerlach and Mrs. Mary E. Gerlach entertained with a post New Year's Eve open house for friends and neighbors. Heart felt it was a happy time for the Meadow Hills gang.

Among happy reunions during the Christmas holidays was that of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Stephens, returned home after 17 months in Korea. Ed arrived Christmas Eve.

Francisco. He received his discharge from active service January 4. (What a wonderful year! During the tour of duty in the Far East he was in Troop Information and news work. He taught school in the 19th Engineers Combat Group in Seoul and Inchon area. This area was too foreign to me so everyone join me in welcoming Ed to the Middletown community surely glad you're back home Ed!)

"It'll be Home for Christmas" was the theme song and main operation of Corporal Harold Miller, III, who spent the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller, Jr., Meadow Hills.

Well shut my mouth with wonder never cease. That country mile a big appetite and a yen for the country and wide open spaces.

After speaking of my husband, of course Lewis Gwyn, who arrived by plane from Chicago Friday, after attending the Franklin Mart. The building where the mart is held covers a lot of territory and since we were used to wading shore it was pretty rough on the "old man."

Someone else who took wings was Mrs. Violet Casey who flew to Burbank, Calif., recently. Mrs. Casey was called to Burbank because of the illness of her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Young recently entertained with dinner for Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Denton and Jackie, of Jeffersonville, Ind. Mr. Denton is assistant manager of the Kentucky Branch of the New York Life Insurance Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Y. Miller, Jr. and children, Francis, Boots and Sue Ann, took off last week-end for Lawrenceburg, Ky., where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lowry and children. But that was a glibby gift for sure because Bud Lowry and Boots were fraternity brothers in that great fraternity, the Marine Corps at the same time in Jolla, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Brinsley returned Wednesday from the Windy City of Chicago, where they attended the Franklin Mart. Their feet weren't quite as sensitive as their son-in-law's because they do wear shoes once a week—on Sunday anyway!

The regular meeting of the Middletown Grade School P.T.A. will meet next Tuesday, January 18, Mr. Oakley Brown, who is with the Jefferson County Recreation Department will be the speaker. "Recreation" Parents are urged to attend.

Friday, January 9, some members of the Middletown Elementary School Orchestra played instruments in the "Blue Christmas" for the Music Clinic held at University of Louisville. Playhouse. Participants from Middletown School were Michael Mastropalo, Craig Woodson, Bruce McConnell, Albert Harrison, Terry Wetherby, Virginia Blankenbaker, David Osborn, John Tinsley and David McKercher.

Mr. Ruth Walters, third grade teacher at Middletown Elementary School, attended a meeting of the Kentucky Branch of the New York Life Insurance Company at the Seelbach Hotel, January 6.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Young attended the annual January meeting of the Kentucky Branch of the New York Life Insurance Company at the Seelbach Hotel, January 6.

The WSCS of the Middletown Methodist Church had its monthly meeting Wednesday, January 12, in the church at 11 a.m. The speaker was Mrs. William Hopper, who was a delegate to the World Council of Churches. Her topic was "World Alliance."

Hostesses were Mrs. Clifford Pearce, Mrs. Larry Kempton and Mrs. Robert Buckner. A baby sit was provided at the home of Mrs. Roy Mathews, Urton Lane.

That guy Mr. Stork is sure flying around in these days and presenting proud parents with wee little bundles of joy.

Those who paid a visit by Mr. Stork are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harvey, Meadow Hills, who are presenting a baby girl January 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Cobb are proud grandparents. Their daughter, Mrs. Mary E. Cobb, and Mrs. Masterson announced the birth of a boy January 4.

Sorry to hear that Miss Mattie Yenawine and Miss Bettie Ann (Lynn) are at St. Anthony's Hospital. Hope both will soon be on "dismissed" list.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gwyn had dinner Sunday evening at Chick-on Trail Inn on Highway 42, Um, good eatin' and no dish washing, didn't know how to act!

At the Methodist Church Sunday evening, January 9, there will begin a parents discussion group. This group will meet every Sunday from 6:30 'til 7:30 p.m. If you are interested in Youth and Children's Bureau activities, you will wish to attend.

Mrs. T. T. Woodson who attended the Family Life Conference in Cleveland will lead the group in discussions.

A very important meeting of the Commission of Membership and Evangelism will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, January 20, in the Tri M Class room of the Methodist Church. All members are urged to be present.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Robert B. Martin who died Tuesday at his home on Tucker Station Road.

The Franklin Training School was held Monday evening at the firehouse. About ten boys attended. They are doing the work well and some will soon be voted in as regular qualified Junior Firemen.

Rural Route Change Announced At M'town

Postmaster Edward Schindler announced that a new rural route will be put in operation Monday, January 17, emanating from the Middletown Post Office. This route will embrace parts of what are now Routes 1 and 3 from the Anchorage office and will be known as Route 1, Middletown. It will serve practically every street in the Middletown environs, taking in Old Shelbyville Road from its western end to Evergreen Road and from Wetherby Avenue to Ellingsworth Lane.

This route will do away with much of the confusion concerning addresses in the Middletown area, part of which was served by the Middletown office and the remainder by Anchorage routes, Schindler said.

Kentucky String Clinic In Session At U. of L.

Fern Creek News

By Mrs. H. M. Downey

(Delayed)
Billy D. Bell, senior at Western Kentucky State College, Bowling Green, spent the first week of the holiday vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bell at Fern Creek. Miss Cathy Wintry of Burkewood was also a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bell. On Monday Billy D. and Miss Wintry went to Urbana, Ill., to attend the International Missionary Convention of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship at the University of Illinois.
Other students from the Louisville area who attended the convention were Miss Martha Gray and Messrs. John Chamberlin and Vic Dixon. Mr. Dixon is a medical student at U. of L. from Hawaii.

Drive Started to Aid Family Burned Out of Home

SPRINGDALE NEWS
By Mrs. Annie Hahn

But every house that Love abides
And Friendship is a guest,
Is surely home, and home,
Sweet home;
For there the heart can rest.
—Henry Van Dyke

On Thursday, December 30, a Christmas party was given by David Freibert and Fred J. Stutzenberger, Jr., at the Freibert home. Those attending were: Betty Kadin, Sandra Fischer, Barbara Edwards, Alice Curd, Pat Sterling, Pat Hughes, Janet Hunter, Pat Hunter, Mary Lee Hatfield, Linda Wallace, Winston Chamberlain, Ronny Fletcher, Ronny Hatch, Donny Hatch, Philip Curd, Ronnie Teasford, David Deibel, Arthur Hadden, David Freibert, George Freibert, and Fred J. Stutzenberger, Jr. The girls presented the girls with oranges and the home was attractively decorated for the Christmas season. A delightful time was had by all.

On Sunday evening, January 2, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stutzenberger, Sr., entertained with a dinner in honor of Mr. Stutzenberger's birthday. Covers were laid for the following: Mr. and Mrs. Sherman L. Roettler, Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Shaugnessy, Mr. and Mrs. Gelhaus, Miss Dolores Rosetter, Mrs. Frances Sexton, Mr. George Yener and Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Stutzenberger, Sr. This was partly a surprise for Mr. Stutzenberger.

On Friday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nation on Barbours Lane caught fire from an unknown cause and was completely burned. The family of father, mother and seven children had gone to Crestwood for a shopping tour and the fire happened while they were away. A neighbor discovered the fire and called the Harrods Creek fire department but the fire was out of control. A drive has been started to help the unfortunate family and anyone willing to help can send the articles to the Springdale Manse. Children's ages: Mary 16, Anna 14, Roy 12, Linda 9, Loretta 7, Bobby 3, George 1. House furnishings, canned goods, shoes, hose can be used and anything will be appreciated. Any one wishing to give money can give it to Mr. Robert Stirling, Mr. Hatch or Mr. Fred Stutzenberger.

On Thursday of this week the Morning Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. John Chubb. The Afternoon Circle will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Bayless Brenner; and Mrs. Charles Maddox will be hostess to the Evening Circle.

The fourth annual Mothers' March on Polio has been scheduled for January 27 from 10 to 1 p.m. Preparations are being made for this community-wide event. Hope everyone is aware of the all-year-round work the Jefferson County Polio Chapter does in literally standing at the head of every stricken polio patient from the moment of hospitalization. The chapter has never been able to pay in full the cost of the epidemic periods. The National Foundation always has come to our aid, using funds from the national network of such chapters in a "one for all and all for one" arrangement. Let everyone help in this cause for none of us know but that we may be stricken at any time ourselves.

Mr. Larry Lee Maddox of Montgomery, Alabama, is visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. George Walden is also very sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sibley were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Crouch.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Berger were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Graham.

We deplore the passing of Henry E. Thacker Friday morning at his home on Oak Grove Road. He was 80 years of age. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ethel Thacker (nee Holloway); one son, Mr. Raymond Thacker of Salvia, Ky., and three sisters at Lawrenceburg. The body was at the McAfee Funeral Home until Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. when the funeral was conducted by Bro. Forest Hurst. Interment was in the Lawrenceburg Cemetery. Mr. Thacker will be greatly missed in this community as he was a good man and had a host of friends. To those we love we extend heartfelt sympathy. May the Lord take care of you.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Berger were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Graham.

We wish to thank Mrs. Ethel Thacker for the beautiful flowers she sent me because I was unable to attend the funeral of Mr. Thacker.

The Youth Fellowship group from the Baptist Church in Jeffersontown, held services at the Home Sunday afternoon. They sang for us, and one of the young men read a part of the 14th chapter of John, and made a good talk. One of the young ladies drew a beautiful picture for us. Some of the older members present were Mr. Joe Warrell, Mrs. T. R. Jones and Mrs. Frank McQuinn. Sorry I did not get the young people's names, but we want them to know that we all appreciate their kindness.

Mrs. Jessie Thurman, Miss Jewell Thurman, Mrs. Logan Jones and Clarence Jones, Louisville, visited the writer Sunday afternoon and attended church services here.

Electric Council To Be Formed In State

Fred H. Strong, deputy administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D. C., will be the principal speaker at meeting January 20 in Louisville to form a permanent Kentucky Inter-Industry Farm Electric Council.

Two hundred representatives of the state's rural electric co-operatives, electric companies, educational institutions and electrical equipment manufacturers, distributors and dealers are expected at the organization meeting which will be held at the Kentucky Hotel beginning at 9 a.m.

Purpose of the proposed council would be to present a unified, industry-wide approach to encourage the increased and beneficial use of electricity on the farms and in the farm homes of Kentucky.

Thirty million babies have been born in the U. S. since World War II. The number of young people — under 20 — in the U. S. is now 11 million greater than it was in 1940. This is a growth equal to the combined populations of Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Detroit and Cleveland.

ATTENTION, FARMERS

Check-R-Board Feed Store
315 Baxter — Louisville, Ky.

PIG FEEDING DEMONSTRATION

Another pig feeding demonstration was started January 3 at Check-R-Board Feed Store, 315 Baxter Avenue, Louisville, Ky.

Mr. Fred Zur Schmiede, pig-raiser, told us how his six pigs that were 8 weeks old. They average 25 pounds and have been placed in our outside pen at the store where they were wormed for the first three days with Purina Pig Wormer. They are to be fed on Purina Pig Starters for four weeks and weighed each week, with a record of feed consumed being kept.

Why don't you drop around to the Check-R-Board Feed Store and see what these pigs will do. Watch 'em grow and see how

BULLETIN DESIRES DAIRY CATTLE BARNS

Dairymen planning to build or remodel barns will be interested in a U. S. Department of Agriculture bulletin called, "Stall Barns and Dairy Cattle." It tells how such barns may be built and used to make dairying easier and profitable. Pictures and plans are included. For a copy see a county agent or write to the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, Lexington.

Pur pig in your poke on your next trip to market. Pork loin is a big value right now. Generally speaking, pork loin is the most desirable section of the animal for chops and roasts. Now is the time to have those skilled or carcase men build around pork chops. A pork roast is always welcome for cold weather eating.

You will find some differences in prices among the pork chops and roasts sold in the same market. This is explained by the fact that different sections of the loin vary in proportion of fat and bone to lean meat. Cuts with the highest percentage of bone and fat are the least expensive, those with the greatest percentage of lean are higher. The leaner chops and roasts of the loin are from the center section. They usually cost more than those you see labeled loin or rib end.

Your meat man can be of great assistance in helping you make your choice. Good quality pork has a delicate rose or grayish pink color in the lean and the flesh is fine grained. Fat is pearly white and firm surrounding the outside of the meat and sprinkled throughout the lean. Bones are pinkish.

Unlike beef, pork is not graded according to quality of the whole carcass. Many porkers make a distinction between their grades in smoked meats so that the homemaker has a guide for selection. In fresh pork cuts there is no designation as to grade. Government inspection of pork only covers the standards set for wholesomeness and sanitation and the little stamp that you may find on the meat only indicates that the animal was in sound condition for marketing. It does not mean that it is superior nor inferior so far as texture, flavor, or tenderness are concerned.

Pork must always be cooked until well done. One of the easiest ways to tell when pork has reached the well-done stage is to see whether all the pink color has disappeared. Not only does cooking the pork to the well done stage make it safe for eating, but it always develops the maximum flavor of the lean and fat.

To roast pork, always place the meat fat side up and leave it uncovered. Have the oven temperature 350 degrees Fahrenheit. At higher oven temperatures, you lose juices and the meat naturally dries out. With this drying goes loss of flavor and you get fewer servings because the meat shrinks in cooking.

HINTS FOR CREAM PRODUCERS

DON'T LET CREAM FREEZE IN WINTER
FROZEN CREAM MAY BE BITTER AND BE GRADED NO. 3

Cool cream to below 45°F., but NOT below 40°F.
Store in cool part of building, NOT in cellar
Cover cream can with clean, dry blanket in cold weather to prevent freezing

HOME REFRIGERATORS ARE SATISFACTORY FOR CREAM STORAGE

KEEP CREAM COOL COVERED MARKET AT LEAST TWICE WEEKLY

Agricultural Extension Service, College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, in cooperation with the Kentucky Cream Improvement Association

A problem of no little importance to many cream producers during winter months is the one concerned with freezing. Cream that is frozen or has been frozen often becomes bitter and mealy. This type of cream is unfit for making salable butter. Cream should be cooled during the winter months but not below 40° F. If conditions are so that cream must be stored in a place where there is danger of freezing, some method of protection should be used. Covering with a clean, dry blanket or quilt should provide adequate protection. The home refrigerator is a very good place to store cream both summer and winter.

Newburg News
By Mrs. J. L. Shively

Preaching service at Newburg Sunday by a young man, but a good, practical sermon. Large crowd and good choir. Sorry to report so many sick folk, but glad to see some back that have been away on account of sickness. Every effort is being put forth to secure a full time minister for Newburg.

Two beautiful designs were sent Mr. Newburg Church in memory of Mrs. Etta Gallagher whose funeral and interment was Saturday.

Will be glad to hear a good report from Mrs. Fielden Frederick soon.

Thursday night callers of Mr. and Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Shively were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hart and son and Catherine and Douglas Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Cook called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sils Friday night to extend sympathy to the bereaved.

Mrs. Carl Frey was a visitor Sunday night and Mrs. Shively Wednesday night.

Mrs. Calvin Hart visited her sister, Mrs. Bill Waldron, in her new modern home on Dixie Highway last Wednesday.

Mrs. John Enly and Mrs. Carl Frey visited Thursday in the interest of the C.W.F. of Newburg Church. One shut-in they visited was Mrs. C. R. Hart who cannot get to church and she appreciated it so much.

Mrs. Etta Gallagher, who passed away recently, had been for many years interested in Newburg Church although she was a member of the Bardstown Road Presbyterian Church. Back in the good old days we had a very large active organization known as "The Ladies Aid." Mrs. Gallagher was for many years the faithful secretary and being neat with the needle did most of the special work on quilts, etc., and always so willing and interested in all the activities of the church. She will remain in our memory of pleasant associations.

We enjoyed a visit from the Southland Sunday afternoon. Earl brought them over, he is not only a wonderful chauffeur but is the owner of a new Buick.

A large crowd from this community attended the funeral and burial of Mrs. Etta Gallagher Sunday. The church extends sympathy to the daughter and surviving relatives.

Mr. Calvin Hart, Mr. George Ahlman and Buddy Mobley took a hunting trip to Leitchfield.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Cook and Mrs. Shively were invited to the welcome home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hart and sons Sunday evening for 6 o'clock dinner. The supper was delayed, as Larry Hart fell from a bike and run a long stick through the side of his nose. He was rushed to the Baptist Hospital where Dr. Mitchell removed it and gave him 2 shots. Larry is 9 years old and has had four very painful accidents but goes through with them like a little soldier. He is glad it did not happen before he got to go to Sunday School. He is wearing a pin for faithful attendance and striving for the next one.

Mrs. L. P. Jones attended her Homesteaders meeting last Friday.

Mrs. J. E. Steland visited Mrs. C. R. Hart, recently.

"Live It Up" Is Conference Theme

"Live It Up" will be the theme of the 1955 Kentucky Rural Health Conference to be held Thursday, January 20, at the Kentucky Hotel, Louisville. Every rural person is invited to this all day meeting sponsored by the 10 member organizations of the Kentucky Rural Health Council. Registration will be at 9 a.m. with adjournment at 4 p.m.

Speakers and discussion group will develop the theme that rural Kentuckians can solve many health problems through voluntary co-operative effort at the community level. Dr. Wyatt Norvell, New Castle, council chairman, said in a pre meeting interview.

"The conference is directed toward helping the people achieve fully healthy lives as well as freedom from disease."

"Because of their importance to both objectives, the conference will explore how rural people can, by voluntarily working together, protect their children against communicable diseases, strengthen the family through sound nutrition, benefit from intelligent sanitation measures, and through the use of modern methods of action to meet problems unique in their own communities."

A Safety program is to be presented at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of Valley High School scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, January 20, in the school cafeteria. David E. Epes is in charge of the program, Mrs. H. L. Smith, club publicity chairman, said.

FEEDER'S NOTEBOOK

by Emmet Mitchen
Graduate Extension Advisor

FEEDING BREEDER HENS
An important consideration in the production of hatching eggs is the fact that nutrients found in the eggs depend largely upon nutrients in the feed of the hen.

This is particularly important in hatching-egg production, because the nutrient requirements for good breeder — or hatching — eggs are much greater and more exacting than eggs for the breakfast table.

In order to get good hatchability, the chick embryo, like the hatched chick, must have several essential nutrients in adequate amounts. If any of these are lacking, the embryo will die just as the hatched chick will die if it doesn't get enough of the right things to eat. And the nutrients the egg depends upon on the nutrients in the feed of the hen.

Research and practice have shown that adequate amounts of calcium and phosphorus are necessary in the hen's feed for hatchability. Manganese is also important as an adequate vitamin supply. Of the fat soluble vitamins, A and D are especially vital if the birds are confined or do not have access to sunshine and green forage. Vitamin E is also required. Vitamin E is an essential vitamin that is likely to disappear if the ingredients in the ration are not fresh.

These are all trace ingredients, and are necessary in the ration only in minute quantities. Feeding bent for both high production and high hatchability has become a specialized job requiring the careful help of science.

Shaves and haircuts of the average male consume 3,400 hours — 47 working days out of his lifetime.

Little Miss Ingeborg Plapp spent part of holiday season in Louisville with her father and Mr. Robert Pack.

Mrs. Bland Porter and Miss Jan Martha Porter spent Sunday with her father and sister, Mr. Vernon Bell and Mrs. William Crumbraker and family in the Zionsville section.

The Bethel W.S.C.S. met for an all day meeting Thursday with Mrs. Vester Scroggins and Mrs. Dorothy Scroggins. Other members present were Madeline Kate Peacock, Clyde Parrish, Clarence Keller, R. E. Owen, Sr., Mary Fisher, Myrtle Motherhead, Dorsey Hall, Henry Lutes, Harvey Hubbard and Miss Anna Kate Owen. Mrs. Keller was leader. They will meet next month with Mrs. Mary Fisher on February 10 with Mrs. Myrtle Motherhead as leader.

Gordon and Don Hill Proctor, whose birthdays are on the same day, celebrated with a dinner Sunday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Proctor.

Mrs. Myrtle Motherhead was a luncheon guest Sunday after church of Mrs. Mary Fisher. After church callers were Miss Evelyn Layuans, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Layuans and their three children of Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stigall, Louisville, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Rosa Simmons.

Mrs. Harley Proctor who had a case of pneumonia before Christmas is better, up in her room but not able to get out yet.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Gotthardt were Saturday dinner guests of their daughter, Mrs. J. W. Hatfield and family. Mr. Gotthardt has retired from Logan's where he has held the same office for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Smith, Lander and Linda Smith of Fordyce, Ark., spent the holidays in the Pleasant Grove section visiting their old neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hubbard were to the hospital in Louisville Thursday night to visit Mr. Dan Nutt who has been a patient there since before Thanksgiving. He is not improving as his friends would like.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

All officers of the American Mutual Fire Insurance Company were re-elected at the annual meeting Tuesday at Swiss Hall. They are Julius H. Rosenberg, president; Carl Moser, vice president; Thomas J. McCarthy, secretary; Otto Kiffinger, treasurer; and Jacob E. Rosenberg, appraiser.

Buechel Woman's Club

A contest to determine the boy or girl the Buechel Woman's Club will sponsor in the 1955 National Crochet Week will be held Saturday, January 15th, at the club house.

Mrs. J. H. Dugan, Jr., music chairman of the club, extends an invitation to members and their friends to attend this contest at 10:30 a.m.

The club will have a shogaboard from 5 to 6 p.m. at Bashford Manor, Saturday, January 15. The public is invited. Tickets may be purchased from club members or at the club house the night of the dinner.

Monday, January 17, open house for members will be observed.

There is no project planned for this day to members may bring playing cards, knitting or any personal hobby. The doors are open at 11 and coffee will be served at noon. No lunch will be prepared so members are asked to bring their own.

The executive committee will meet at 9:00 a.m. on January 17, preceding a meeting of the board of directors.

Tuesday, January 18, the chorus will have rehearsal at 8:30. Members are urged to join this group.

Thursday, January 20, the business and program meeting will be held. The business meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. with election of the nominating committee.

The morning and afternoon programs will be given by the chairman of the Fine Arts Department. At 11:30, Mrs. Roy Carson, art chairman, will introduce Robert Smith, an interior decorator, as guest speaker. Following the luncheon Mrs. Edward L. Budgett, literature chairman, will present Mrs. Frederick T. Faust, who will discuss biographies of women.

Doing Among

HOMEMAHER CLUBS

IN COUNTY

ROUTT

ROUTT homemakers held their January meeting at the club room. The meeting was opened with the Lord's Prayer, after which we went directly into our business. Mrs. W. B. Martin, publicist, chairman.

Mrs. A. Boston was chosen woman of the year, with Mrs. Philip Habelbe as acting judge. Mrs. Ralph Baskett brought us some very good reading entitled Kentucky's foundation program on education. Mrs. T. L. Baskett was elected to be Lexington for Farm and Home Week, January 31 to February 4.

After lunch we had a lesson on hats, new and old ones to be used in making. The lesson was brought to the club by Mrs. A. Tinnel and Mrs. W. B. Martin.

All members are anxious to work so we set January 19 as a work day at club room. We also had two lovely visitors Mrs.

who in turn employ sales and service personnel totaling well over 200,000.

Still further jobs are created by the 12,000 direct suppliers upon whom the company relies. And here again this tells only part of the story because these direct suppliers buy from their own suppliers and the second-tier suppliers in turn purchase materials, parts and services from still other businesses. In one way or another, hundreds of thousands of businesses of all types and sizes in every part of the country have helped build GM's 50 million cars and have shared in its prosperity.

Having quoted GM President Harlow H. Currier earlier in this article, let me conclude it with his comment as to the future. Said he, "General Motors' first 25 million cars were built in 32 years. Customers called for another 25 million within 14 years. The size of the job grew as the years progressed—and with it, the opportunities for all concerned. Now, as General Motors starts on its second 50 million cars and trucks, the opportunities ahead—for service and accomplishment—are greater than ever before."

While justifiably proud of this accomplishment on the part of the company that he heads, the GM president gave public recognition to the fact that his company did not and could not have done the job alone when he added, "It is a tribute to those countless men and women all over America who shared in the job—employees, suppliers, suppliers of materials, dealers and stockholders—who between 1920 and 1944 furnished us with the resources and the cooperation needed."

To realize the magnitude of this production job, just consider how many are 50 million cars! A factory capable of turning out one a minute, operating 40 hours a week, would take more than 400 years to produce 50 million cars. And again, 50 million cars lined up bumper to bumper would fill a 6-lane highway, encircling the earth at the equator. It is little wonder that our highways are crowded and parking has become such a problem.

Today, above 500,000 men and women make up General Motors' working family. This compares with 14,250 employees when General Motors was established in 1908. However, the jobs created by General Motors do not stop there. To find customers for its cars, GM relies upon its 14,000 dealers, independent businessmen,

NATIONAL CROCHET WEEK, JANUARY 22-29, INTRODUCES 14th ANNUAL CROCHET CONTEST

The stage is set for the biggest needlework events of the year. The curtain rises on National Crochet Week, January 22-29, the first of a trilogy featuring the crochet hook. During this week, a fine array of crocheting materials—yarns, crochets, cotton and instruction books—will be given prominence in the needlework departments of stores.

As crocheters once again applaud the hobby by the given prominence in the needlework departments of stores, a suggestion for your entry in the 1955 National Crochet Contest, the one of the year.

All crocheters, and would-be crocheters, men, women and teenagers are invited to display their talents with hook and thread in the 14th Annual Nationwide Crochet Contest. Over $10,000 in cash prizes will be waiting for the winning contestants. A cash prize of $500 will be awarded to a Grand National Champion, and $100 each to a Twenty-First Champion and a Merit Champion. All three will receive free trips to New York City. Hundreds of other cash prizes will be presented to the winners in the 16 other classifications of the Contest.

Now is the time for you to decide on the prize you would like and aim towards it with your crochet hook. Select a design to your liking and make it up in any size unnumbered crochets you wish to include 100. Make the third phase of this contest year a prize-winning time for yourself. Braun, Mrs. Richard Brown, Mrs. Ray Deibel, Mrs. Abell Karem, Mrs. Glen Kestler, Mrs. John Glass, Mrs. L. H. Lauman, Mrs. Marvin Lauman, Mrs. Donald Schalk, Mrs. J. W. Schumann, Mrs. Louis Schuster, Mrs. Maurice Settle, Mrs. A. B. Tobber, Mrs. Ray Voll, Mrs. Willard Watson, and Mrs. Al Wolczyk.

Mrs. Maurice Settle and Mrs. Abell Karem gave us some helpful hints on tailoring. Both Mrs. Settle and Mrs. Karem had conducted a class in the fall. Several more members are planning to enter the tailoring classes which will begin on Monday, January 24.

Several members visited the School for Retarded Children and presented the school with a rocking horse for the younger children and records for the older ones. Plans are being made for a Valentine party on Monday, January 24.

At Christmas two magazine subscriptions were given to Hazelwood Sanatorium. Also our club made it possible for the patients to receive 200 copies of "Family Circle." These magazines are the ones left over at the end of each month and donated by the Kroger. In this way each of the women has her own magazine.

Farm and Home Week will be observed February 1-5 at the University of Kentucky. As we are planning to attend a meeting on Wednesday in Lexington, our next meeting will be, on Thursday, February 3, at the home of Mrs. Abell Karem, 3032 Melbourne Avenue.

On Monday, January 24, we will be the guest of General Electric and make a tour of the plant in Buechel—Mrs. Donald Schalk, publicist, chairman.
